OUR OTTAWA LETTER.

Reports on Fire and Life Insurance---Canada Central Exhibition.

Present Political Topics---Vancouver Harbor---Meeting of Parliament.

From our own Correspondent.]

Ottawa, Oct. 2—The annual report of the Superintendent of Insurance has just been issued by the Finance Department. During the year 1887, the business of fire insurance in Canada was carried on by thirty-two active companies, six Canadian, twenty-one British and five American. The cash received for fire premiums during the year in Canada amounted to $5,244,502, an increase of $312,167 over 1886, and the amount paid for losses was $3,403,514, an increase of $102,126 over the previous year. A return from eighteen companies operating in British Columbia shows the net premiums to be $103,275 and the losses $28,704, or a loss rate of 27.79 compared with 54.99 for Ontario. Quebec has the highest loss rate, 85.59, and British Columbia the lowest. The gross amount of policies new and renewed taken during the year by five companies in Canada was $532,757,088, showing an increase of $27,004,181 over the amount taken in 1886. The premiums charged thereon amounted in 1887 to $6,145,188 being an increase of $291,015 over the amount charged the previous year. The rate of premium is somewhat less than that of 1886, but the loss rate is substantially the same.

LIFE INSURANCE.

The business of life insurance has been transacted by twenty-nine active companies, of which eleven are Canadian, ten British and eight American. During the year the total amount of policies in Canada were $38,008,310, exceeding the amount taken in 1886 by $2,836,962. The total amount of insurance in force at the close of the statements was $191,694,270, which shows the large increase of $20,378,574 over that of the previous year. The amount of insurance terminated in natural course was, namely, by death, maturity or expiry, was $2,445,521, which is greater by $279,856 than the corresponding amount in the previous year; and the amount terminated by surrender and lapse was $14,044,000 being greater than that in the previous year by $4,122,176.

CANADA CENTRAL EXHIBITION.

The initial number of the Canada Central Exhibition, held here last week, was in every way a decided success. During the four days, which constituted the exhibition proper, although it lasted for the full week, over 50,000 visitors patronized the Fair and were delighted with what they observed while present. The Association derived a revenue of some $12,000 which will leave a surplus after their indebtedness has been settled. This guarantees the future success of the exhibition. As for the Provincial show its usefullness is now gone, and the next one to be held at London is likely to be the last.

VANCOUVER HARBOR.

Mr. A. W. Ross, who represents Lisgar, Manitoba, in the Dominion Parliament, but who for some two or three years past is located at Vancouver, B. C., in the real estate and insurance business, was in Ottawa this week on some little business with the Dominion Government. Mr. Ross was at one time a staunch liberal, but the inducements held out to him by the Canadian Pacific Railway were too strong to resist and therefore has become an out and out Tory. The other day he had an interview with Sir Hector Langevin, regarding the entrance to Vancouver harbor, which is complained of by shippers and others. The minister of Public Works promised to have the matter investigated, and also to remove a rock which greatly interferes with navigation at that point. Mr. Ross, who it may be said never tires of "booming" Vancouver, also visited Montreal.

POLITICAL TOPICS.

The result of the election in Montreal East, prove an agreeable disappointment to the government and the conservative party generally. That Hon. Mr. Chapleau would be jubilant over the defeat of Mr. Porier, who he views as a bitter enemy, was to be expected. The Secretary of State left no stone unturned to secure his defeat, entering the contest and speaking and working like a trogan. Mr. Chapleau may have his faults, but lack of pluck and determination cannot be laid against him. I learn that the Liberals will protest the election of Mr. Lepine. All eyes are now turned towards Cardwell, where Mr. R. S. White is running in the Conservative interest against Mr. Stubbs, an independent Conservative. Mr. Stubbs gets the Liberal support on account of his being a local man, and also a supporter of unrestricted reciprocity with the United States. The chances are that notwithstanding all this Mr. White will be elected, the Conservatives being extremely Tory. An election will be held in Shelburne, Nova Scotia, on the 15th of the present month, General Laurie, Conservative, being unseated on account of corrupt practice. Mr. Johnston, Liberal, will likely be pitted against him. So far the writs for Provencher, Manitoba, have not been issued. The Government is apparently frightened that the result will be against them. In regard to retaliation the Government have not yet taken any active steps, and as I said in my last letter, are not likely to do so before the next fishing season comes around.

MEETING OF PARLIAMENT.

It is understood that the Dominion Parliament will meet on the third Thursday of January next for the dispatch of business. It is doubtful if Hon. Mr. Blake will be able to take his seat, owing to his health having not so completely recovered to enable him to do so. At any rate Mr. Laurier will act as leader. The session will not likely be a long one, although it will take the usual three months or more to get through with the ordinary work of legislating what is absolutely necessary for the conduct of the affairs of the country. The Senate will have the pleasure of attending some six divorce cases, the only business which the old ladies seem to take a liking to. It is to be hoped that they will refrain from publishing such disgusting and filthy evidence as they did in a particular case last session. True enough, the report was called in, but not before some 100 copies or more found their way among the public, a few even going to Victoria.

NEW WESTMINSTER NEWS.

The Victoria, Saanich, Westminster Railway--Smallpox.

Special to The Times.]

New Westminster, Oct. 9—The engineers are working on the line of the Victoria, Saanich & Westminster Railway. The railway and ferry company have completed six miles of location from the Gulf of Georgia up along the Fraser. A point has been selected a short distance above Ladner's Landing where the river will be crossed. Bell Irving, engineer-in-charge, expects to have the location line finished from the mouth of the Fraser to Westminster in about two weeks.

At a special meeting of the Surrey council held yesterday for the purpose of taking any steps deemed advisable to prevent the spread of smallpox, H. T. Thrift was appointed quarantine officer and J. A. McLean, school teacher, was engaged to vaccinate the residents throughout the municipality.

ONTARIO AND QUEBEC.

Trouble With Navvies--A New Office--Smallpox, and a Fortune.

Special to The Times.]

Belleville, Oct. 9—An Italian and an Englishman, working on the G. T. R double track, quarrelled yesterday and the former killed the latter with a crowbar. A brother of the Englishman went to the rescue, and the Italian was joined by compatriots, who drew knives. The foreman managed to avert a melee by drawing a revolver and threatening to shoot the first man to raise a hand. Both gangs went back to work but more trouble is expected, as the feeling between them has been growing hot for some time.

Quebec, Oct. 9—M. Dorans, ex-M. P. for Nicolet, has had a new office created for him, that of agent of the public works department at Sorel, in connection with deepening the St. Lawrence channel.

Port Hope, Oct. 9—The steam barge D. M. Foster appeared off here yesterday morning flying distress signals. A life boat was sent out, but before the barge could be reached she turned bottom side up. The crew must have been taken off, as no sign of them could be found.

Stouffville, Oct. 9—Sam Peterman, working as a street car driver in Toronto, came here for a visit and is now laid up with smallpox. The villagers are terribly alarmed, and the authorities have quarantined the house.

THE PRAIRIE CAPITAL.

Editor of the Free Press Resigns--An Engineer Drowned, &c.

Special to The Times.]

Winnipeg, Oct. 9—F. C. Wade, for many years leader writer on the Free Press, has resigned his position as a protest against the unwarranted attacks of that paper on the government.

The preliminary investigation into the Call libel begins in the police court to-day.

Harry Morice, engineer on the steamer Lady Ellen, fell overboard and drowned during rough weather on Lake Winnipeg yesterday.

A convention will be held on October 15th to select a Conservative candidate for Provencher.

The schools at East Selkirk have been closed owing to the prevalence of diphtheria.

FROM TORONTO.

Boodlers in Toronto--A Car Driver Heir to Millions.

Special to The Times.]

Toronto, Oct. 9—Owing to the result of the Cox case, ex-President Blair, of the defunct Central Bank, will return to the city.

A bombshell was exploded in the city council last evening by Ald. Gillespie, who charged malfeasance in connection with the board of works against Inspectors Wilson and R. Carlton, accountant, W. D. Shutt and J. Baxter, and contractor A. W. Godson. The council adopted a resolution referring the charges to the county court judge for investigation.

John Hill, who used to keep a store in Thornburgh, and now driving a street car here, is one of 22 brothers who have fallen heirs to an estate in New York of fifty millions.

SPORTING NOTES.

Baseball, Lacrosse and Aquatic News--Champion Baseball Players.

The baseball season closes for the great clubs on Saturday next. New York is champion of the National League this year and St. Louis of the American Association for the fourth consecutive season. These two will play a series of games for the championship of the world.

Crane and Van Haltren, the Oakland boy, are the only League pitchers to shut a team out this season without a hit or a run.

THE AMERICA CUP.

W. Reers, a noted naval architect of Australia, is to build a yacht for a wealthy syndicate in Sydney, which is to compete for the America cup next year.

AQUATIC.

Al Hamm says that notwithstanding the claim of O'Connor that he has covered the three-mile course in 19 minutes and 16 seconds, John Teemer can defeat him in any kind of a race.

Teemer's new boat, in which he intends to row his race against O'Connor, will weigh only twenty-six pounds rigged, and he expects to tip the scales at 172½ pounds in his rowing costume.

The Canadian Sportsman says that O'Connor can outrow Teemer as easily as he did Gaudaur is a foregone conclusion among those who know what he can do.

LACROSSE.

Vancouver is greatly excited over the recent lacrosse match. To use the Greek they are just "whooping 'er up" over it and have given the boys a banquet in honor of the occasion. They claim to be champions and world beaters.

THE BASEBALL TOURNAMENT.

At a meeting of the B. C. Agricultural Society, held last night, it was decided to withhold the prize advertised for the baseball tournament. It is claimed that the Amities promised to induce outside teams to take part in the tournament and in consequence of no entries outside of Victoria, the Agricultural Society considered the agreement was not carried out. The Amities are very indignant and claim the prize for which they competed with the James Bays on Saturday morning.

Boiler For Isabel.

Another boiler for the Isabel was taken on at the C. P. N. wharf this morning, but due precaution was taken that the accident of yesterday did not occur. Three teams were placed on it, one in front of the load and two in the rear to hold it back.

THE DAY'S NEWS.

Disease and Death Among Cattle---A Deputation Calls Upon Villard.

Floquet to Resign--Sir John Not a Prophet--Protection for Germans in Africa.

San Francisco October 9.—Dr. A. S. Mercer, of the U. S. Bureau of animal industry and who has been sent out by the agricultural department at Washington to gather statistics in regard to cattle and horses, addressed the board of health last night. He stated that while traveling through ranches of Texas and adjoining territories, he had discovered that hundreds of cattle were daily dying from various diseases, such as Texas fever, anthraxy, big jaw, actinomynsis, etc. He telegraphed to Washington for a surgeon, and was favored by Dr. Thomas Bowhill. They then came to California, and it was found that the anthrax was making great ravages among cattle of Monterey county. At one ranch 900 cattle died within thirty days. Autopsies were made on carcasses and the causes of death were discovered, and all through that neighborhood cattle were found to be dying daily. Many horses were also diseased. At another ranch 100 out of 200 cattle died within 20 months. The Spanish people in the vicinity cut up carcasses and shipped the meat as smoked and dried beef to San Francisco. Dr. Mercer said that thousands of this diseased dried beef had been sent to this city. The board decided to take immediate action and will try and employ a veterinary surgeon and two assistants to inspect all meats sold in the markets. A joint meeting of local and state boards will be held to inquire further into the matter.

DELEGATION CALLS ON VILLARD.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 9—A delegation of representative men of Seattle, W. T., called upon Henry Villard this morning, President Oakes and other Northern Pacific officials being present. The Northern Pacific extension or purchase by the company of the Columbia and Puget Sound Railway which runs from Stuck Junction to Seattle, was urged by the delegation. Nothing definite was done in the matter.

FLOQUET WILL RESIGN.

Paris, Oct. 9.—The Maten says: Owing to disputes between members of the Cabinet in regard to the Revenue bill, Floquet will most likely resign. Gobbel, the Minister of Foreign Affairs, will succeed him as premier.

SIR JOHN'S VIEW.

Ottawa, Oct. 9—Sir John Macdonald in an interview expressed the opinion that the Liberal party is irretrievably committed to some sort of politic commercial surrender by Canada to the United States. The next federal election, he says, will be fought out on this line.

CHOLERA IN THE PHILLIPINES.

London, Oct. 9—Cholera is reported making terrible ravages in the Phillipine Islands, the daily number of deaths both among inhabitants and cattle being very large.

GUARDING AN EMPEROR.

Vienna, Oct. 9—Great precautions are being taken for Emperor William's safety both by railway station along the route and at the palace. It is said that the reason for the unusual display of military and police was the recent revival of the internal Socialistic association.

CHIEF JUSTICE INSTALLED.

Washington, Oct. 9—The new Chief Justice of the United States Supreme Court, Melville Weston Fuller, was installed in office to-day with appropriate ceremonies. The Supreme Court room was crowded with Senators, Congressmen, the bar here and in Chicago, a number of ladies, including Mrs. Fuller and six daughters. The services were impressive.

TO PROTECT THE GERMANS.

Berlin, Oct. 9—Four German frigates lying in the Bay of Naples, for the purpose of firing a salute in honor of Emperor William upon his arrival there, have received orders to proceed instantly to Zanzibar to protect German residents whose lives and property are endangered by a rising among the natives. They carry 1630 men and 66 guns.

THE TURF.

London, Oct. 9—The New Market second of October meeting for the Czarewitch stakes was won by Tenbreaus, Millstream second, and Traytes third. There were twenty-three starters.

CARRIAGE COMPANY ASSIGNS.

Oshkosh, Mis., Oct. 9—J. L. Clark's carriage company has assigned; liabilites, $100,000.

SNOW STORMS.

St. Johnbury, Vt., Oct. 9—Snow commenced falling here last night and to-day at noon a storm is still in progress.

WASHINGTON NEWS.

Washington, D.C., Oct. 9—The Supreme Court took up the great telephone cases to-day, Chief Justice Fuller presiding. Judge Thurman opened the case for the government and was followed by Chandler. The "Old Roman" spoke steadily for two hours and greatly to the surprise of all he delivered his entire speech in clear voice without any apparent effort.

The Secretary of the Treasury has asked Congress for an appropriation of $50,000 to carry the Chinese act into effect and the Secretary's letter was read in the house and immediately referred to the appropriations committee. In less than twenty minutes the bill was reported back appropriating $50,000. Five minutes after the bill was passed without a dissenting vote.

PACKING HOUSE BURNT.

Chicago, Oct. 9—Sohnman's packing house was burned this morning. Loss, $125,000. Insured.

THOSE CAR-STRIKERS.

The West Side street car drivers and conductors struck this morning being unable to reach a satisfactory conclusion with Supt. Yerkes in reference to the North Side strikers. The strike affects over 1400 men, two-thirds of the residents in the district of the city are practically shut off from reaching their business except by walking. On the North Side cars started at 7 o'clock this morning accompanied by police and a few passengers; non descriptive vehicles did a thriving business. So far no disturbance has occurred.

WELL PRESERVED GAME.

New York, Oct. 8—A London cable says: An agitation that threatens to sweep off the statute books the game laws, which recently have become more odious than ever to the people by reason of their harsh enforcement by the local magistrates, has been started at Ashford. Societies for the purpose of abolishing or at least reforming these laws, have been organized in several shires and public meetings are being nightly held at which fiery orators fiercely denounce their monstrous iniquity. The cause of the agitation at this time is the arrest of a young sailor named John Woodland, who last April was caught by one of Lord Bradbourne's keepers in the act of sucking an egg which he had abstracted from a partridge's nest. A summons was immediately taken out for him, but he avoided arrest by going to sea. He had just landed from his voyage, when he was taken in charge by a constable and ushered into the presence of a magistrate, who, on his pleading guilty to the offence charged, sentenced him to prison for a fortnight. The severe punishment of Woodland for such a trivial offence has aroused the people to a high pitch of excitement and alarmed Lord Bradbourne, who has sent an appeal to the proper authorities for the boy's release, although in court he insisted on the full penalty of the law being meted out to the culprit.

GETTING BACK.

New York, Oct. 8—China, or at least some of the officials of China, wish to retaliate for American Chinese restriction laws by laws prohibiting the importation of American kerosene into China. Chang Chitung, viceroy of Canton, has addressed a memorial to the emperor, in which he arraigns kerosene as the greatest menace to the peace and prosperity of the empire. It burned up 400 houses in Swatow not long ago, he says, and just before that it destroyed a steamer and cost 800 people their lives. Soon afterwards it burned 1,000 houses in Canton and destroyed $10,000,000 worth of property. It is responsible, he says, for nine-tenths of the fires that occur every winter in Canton. The viceroy points out that there is no difficulty in putting an end to the baneful traffic, because the treaty of 1881 with America makes provisions to limit Chinese immigration to that country on account of the competition of Chinese labor being objectionable. "And if they can prohibit our going there because Chinese labor is injurious to their interests, we have an equal right to prohibit the importation of kerosene when it is injurious to us. The law that nations have a right to protect their own interests and prevent injury being done to their people applies to both countries alike, if there be any justice; and when either government acts on this principle no objection can be raised by the other." The viceroy, therefore, formally requests that a stop be instantly put to the importation of the baneful kerosene.

The afternoon session of the Convention resumed work at 2 p. m. with singing and prayer. The Committee on Nominations reported as follows: Committee on Courtesies, Mrs. Humber and Mrs. Rae. Committee on Resolutions, Mrs. Jenkins, Miss McDougall, Mrs. Sargison, Mrs. Tate, Mrs. Middlebrok, Mrs. Finch Mrs. Thornburn. Mrs. Sargison and Mrs. Ashwell were appointed Auditors. Miss DeBeck was elected Assistant Secretary. Mrs. D. Jenkins spoke on the question of kindergarten instruction. Hon. John Robson was called on by the President and also spoke in favor of establishing kindergarten schools. Rev. J. W. Wadman and Rev. Mr. Barrs congratulated the Women's Christian Temperance Union for their earnest efforts in the cause of moral reform.

The evening session was opened with prayer by Rev. Mr. Crosby. Mrs. Jenkins recited the 103 Psalm. The choir then sang "Oh the Good that We May All Do." The children of the Band of Hope then welcomed the ladies connected with the Union, and presented the President with baskets of beautiful flowers. Mrs. G. Grant, of the W. C. T. U. of this city, read an address of welcome, which was responded to by Mrs. Hemlaw on behalf of the visiting delegates. Dr. Reid, on behalf of the Ministerial Association, also welcomed the ladies. Mrs. Jenkins replied in a few well chosen remarks. Mrs. Cunningham then read the President's report and called on Rev. J. W. Wadman, who addressed a few words of encouragement to the members. The meeting was brought to a close by singing the temperance doxology.

TO-DAY'S SESSION.

The morning of the second day of the W. C. T. U. Convention opened at 9:30 Mrs. D. Spencer leading the ladies in a Bible reading and prayer meeting. After invoking God's blessing the President took the chair and the business of the day began by the reading and adoption of the minutes of Monday afternoon and evening sessions. Mrs. Spafford then gave notice that at the next annual meeting she would move an amendment to by-law No. 5. Mrs. Scoullar as Superintendent of the Department of Heredity and Hygiene gave her report which called forth considerable discussion, particularly with regard to the tendency of the use of patent medicines to increase inebriety. The President read an extract from the Philadelphia Dispatch which gave the following receipts as a remedy that may be depended on as a great assistance to those who are endeavoring to give up the use of alcoholic drinks: ¼ oz. of Quasia steeped (not heated) in one pint of best cider vinegar, bottled for use. Dose one teaspoonful in half a cup of water when the craving for liquor comes on. This receipt was taken by the delegates present to be used instead of Jamaica ginger. Under the topic of Hygiene the question of dress reform was also lengthily discussed, some most useful and hygienic suggestions were given by different ladies present, with regard to the healthful and beneficial manner of dressing, which is so much needed in the present day. The corresponding secretary's report was called for and read. Noon hour of prayer was observed, after which the ladies adjourned to the lunch room.

IMMIGRATION.

If the Island of Vancouver is not for ever to remain a wilderness, it is necessary to seek by every legitimate means in our power to endeavor to people it, in order to make it productive. This desirable end can not be attained by parcelling out the lands into the hands of a few. That the climate and soil of the island are capable of producing grain, roots, fruits and vegetables in any quantity and of the very best quality, must have been apparent to any one who visited the agricultural exhibition a few days ago. The products shown by Mr. SAUNDERS, from the Alberni district, were a fair example. Prosperous settlements in all favorable parts of the island would add much to the advancement of the country and to the business of the city. We may be told that the country is a wilderness, and that a wilderness it must remain, yet these traducers of their own land figure largely in the books of the Land and Work Department. We are also told by such men that the island possesses no attractions for the agriculturist, and this in defiance to proof positive to the contrary. Their reasons are obvious; they want the earth, and seem to have hold of a very fair share of it.

We have the lands of the E. & N. Railway offered to the immigrant for the munificient sum of $3 an acre. With such inducements we find that in one, if not the best, locality in the country—Comox—not a settler has gone in to settle down since last December! How could they, being practically debarred from doing so? The immigrant has to pay down on the nail $3 an acre for the land, he has to make his own roads ... company has a store and ... this they will not allow so much as a peanut stand to exist there in opposition to them. They will neither lease nor sell a building lot, and as they own all the country round about it is an easy matter to keep out the pushing trader that would otherwise go in there. Yet people call this a free country. What we demand is that the coal mining company shall not receive all the attention of the Government. What we want is that the settlers of Comox shall be treated justly and fairly, and not be ground down like slaves who have no voice in the affairs of the country. The railway company should be compelled to sell their lands to settlers at a reasonable figure, or else the people should put them over the fire and fry some of the fat out of them.

NORTHWEST FRONTIER OF INDIA.

According to latest London dispatches there are many surmises regarding the action of the Indian Government in the probable event of the death of the Ameer of Afghanistan. The question of armed occupation, or the annexation of the country, is again discussed with all the ardor of the Jingo party when advocating the retention of Candahar after the suppression and dispersion of Yakob-Kahn and his army. In all likelihood the military occupation of that country by the British would redouble the intrigues of her northern opponent, Russia. On the other hand, should Russia obtain the slightest foothold in Afghanistan it may have a tendency to undermine the power of England's authority in India. The native races believe that England is well able to protect India and Afghanistan from the advances of Russia. Some politicians advocate the division of the country between the contending powers, thus making it the Poland of Asia. Either can have but one effect, that of sinking the prestige of England in the east beyond the power of retrieval. The late Lord BEACONSFIELD was for the retention of Candahar, and the wisdom of such far seeing policy may yet be made apparent. Lord SALISBURY, as his successor, if encouraged by assistance from the Central European Alliance may adopt a forward policy which would have the effect of distracting attention from home affairs, and if successful, establish his government more firmly in power. The addition of another kingdom to our Indian Empire would add to national glory. Burmah and Afghanistan would then complete the circuit of the Imperial diadem of our Queen Empress.

SEWERAGE.

Other cities besides Victoria have their sewerage difficulties. Some years ago Toronto had this nightmare on hand. It conquered it for a time, but it turned the offal into the bay, which has now, it would appear, become a formidable obstacle to the sanative condition of the city. They are puzzled how to dispose of the matter collected. It is computed at the enormous amount of some eight million gallons daily, producing sludge or sediment of some sixty tons. The beautiful bay of Toronto is thus turned into a cesspool detrimental to its sanitary condition. There were various plans proposed, but that as adopted by Southampton, England, seems to meet with the greatest approval, as it appears to possess all the essential qualifications required. In all likelihood if the sewerage of Victoria is poured into the harbor, it will become as great a source of disease as the Solent or the bay of Toronto.

THE TIMES VS. PARNELL.

The following from the Manchester Examiner, shows the present position of this exciting case. The telegraphic report missed several important points:

The Special Commission appointed and constituted by Act of Parliament to inquire into and determine the charges made against the Irish members held a preliminary sitting on Monday in order to hear certain applications and to lay down principles as to the mode in which the inquiry shall be conducted. Nothing that took place during the day's proceedings encourages us to hope that the Commission will have an easy and straightforward task or lead to any useful result. The judges did, no doubt, what lay in their power to restrain the inquiry within such limits as to afford the prospect of some termination to their labors. It was to be confined to the charges and persons referred to and involved in the case of "O'Donnell v. Walter and another." The proceedings were to be conducted, as far as circumstances permit, as if the defendants in that case were the plaintiffs in the proceedings before the Special Commission, and they are required to bring forward such proofs as they are able in support of the accusations made against the Irish members and others. Certain other arrangements were made with regard to the inspection and production of documents. The most important struggle took place over two applications made by Sir Charles Russell on behalf of the Irish members, for the discovery of documents, and for the specification of distinct charges against the defendant. By "discovery" is meant the statement on oath of such papers and documents as either party has in its hands, and upon which it relies for the proof of its case. The proprietor and manager of the Times have all along endeavored to create the impression that they have in their possession a number of letters and documents in addition to the two fac simile letters which were published in their paper, and that they intended to surprise and overwhelm the Irish members by the sudden disclosure of them. Sir Charles Russell asked that they should be compelled to disclose these documents, in order that his clients might be in a position to know what case they would have to meet. Mr. Graham, who, in the absence of the Attorney-General, appeared for the Times, resisted this application, and urged that the judges had no power to treat them as ordinary plaintiffs. He contended that the judges were a Commission appointed to ascertain the facts of the case, and that all his clients could be asked to do was to lay before the Court such evidence as they had in their possession, and so assist the judges in arriving at a knowledge of the truth. They were, he argued, witnesses and not plaintiffs. Anyone who remembers the fiercely aggressive attitude assumed by the Times towards the Irish members, and the almost wanton violence with which they were challenged to deny the accusations which were made against them, in order that they might be proved in a court of law, will be astonished at the mild and modest attitude assumed by Mr. Graham. But in the end the Judges required the Times to make the necessary disclosure, leaving the Court, however, to determine whether the documents were "privileged" by reason of their confidential nature. A very vehement controversy also arose upon the question whether the proprietor of the Times should be required to specify the charges made and the persons against whom they were made. Here again the counsel for the Times took up the same modest attitude, and treated his clients as persons who were most anxious to assist the Commissioners in arriving at a knowledge of the facts, but under no obligation to make definite charges, or state against whom they were directed. The President pointed out that the case was entirely founded on the charges contained in "Parnellism and Crime" and the speech of the Attorney-General in the case of "O'Donnell v. Walter." If the Times were not the accusers of the Irish members, it would seem that they had no accusers. Mr. Graham, however, remained resolute in his attitude, notwithstanding the obvious impatience of the court. But his refusal was apparently founded upon inability to specify distinct charges and to name distinct persons. The Court, however, remarked that if the defendants in the O'Donnell case refused to specify charges, the Court would have to formulate such charges themselves. In this state of chaos and uncertainty is the case left at the very beginning—a jumble of facts and assertions, out of which the Judges will have to crystallise one or two definite points for investigation. The "other persons," of whom so much was made in the Parliamentary discussions, were not even before the Court, the Irish members being alone represented by counsel. What can possibly come from such confusion except further confusion it is difficult to guess. Of course it may turn out that the present diffident and reluctant attitude of the Times is a ruse, and that they intend to surprise and overwhelm the Irish members by quite unexpected disclosures. But unless they are practising this very unworthy artifice, it would seem probable that the proceedings of Monday were but the first step in the process of "climbing down." In either case the first day's proceedings of the Special Commission seem to suggest that an investigation of so vague and indefinite a character will, in spite of the Judges' efforts to make it definite, turn out a hopeless failure.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Montreal Herald says that a "Tory disassociated from boodle is like a boat without oars." The editor of the Herald was a Tory once.

It does not appear that it would mend matters a great deal to hand over the settlement of our political difficulties to the gentler sex. A prominent lady campaign speaker the other day referred to President Cleveland as the "hangman from Buffalo."

Some comment is aroused in London by the orders just issued by the Imperial War Office for increased strength to the Eighteenth Company of the Royal Engineers, now serving at Halifax, by a strong draft from the submarine section of the Royal Engineers and the depot companies from Chatham. Some point to the present tension in the relations with the United States as the possible cause, but it is probably only due to departmental changes.

The Fathers of Confederation did not of course mean to make the Senate of Canada a mere paddock for hacks. What was their purpose is now under discussion. Mr. William Macdougall, who was one of the delegation to London having charge of the British North American Bill, stated in a recent interview that by a special understanding arrived at by the leaders of the two parties prior to the resignation of the Hon. Geo. Brown from the coalition Government, it was agreed that the appointments to the Senate should be of such a character that the two parties should always be equally represented in it. At present there are about five Conservatives to one Reformer in the Senate and, excepting when that venerable body does something wrong, no one pays any attention to it.

CITY AND PROVINCE.

—A lady writes: "I was enabled to remove the corns, root and branch, by the use of Holloway's Corn Cure." Others who have tried it have the same experience. *

—Worms derange the whole system. Mother Graves' Worm exterminator deranges worms, and gives rest to the sufferer. It only costs twenty-five cents to try it and be convinced. *

—What Toronto's well known Good Samaritan says: "I have been troubled with Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint for over 20 years, and I have tried many remedies, but never found an article that has done me as much good as Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure."—CLARA E. PORTER. *

—All beds seem hard to the rheumatic. Then harken ye painful sufferers! Apply Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil to your aching joints and muscles. Rely on it that you will experience speedy relief. Such, at least, is the testimony of those who have used it. The remedy is likewise successfully resorted to for throat and lung diseases, sprains, bruises, etc. *

—Faces as yellow as that of the "Heathen Chinee," in consequence of bile in the blood, grow fair and wholesome-looking again when Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and great blood purifier is used to relax constipated bowels and expel the billious poison from the circulation. Rheumatic and blood impurities are also driven out by it, digestion restored, and the system benefited in every way by its use.

—Gilbert Laird, St. Margaret's Hope, Orkney, Scotland, writes:—"I am requested by several friends to order another parcel of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. The last lot I got from you having been tested in several cases of Rheumatism, has given relief when doctors' medicines have failed to have any effect. The excellent qualities of this medicine should be made known, that the millions of sufferers throughout the world may benefit by its providential discovery." *

WIT AND WISDOM.

Among the ugly stories told of the Congo expedition is a hideous narrative one feature of which was the hiring of a body of cannibals to attack, massacre and feast upon another company of negroes, the purpose being that Jamieson, who was the savant of the expedition, might secure photographs of this unique and interesting scene.

A great many ushers are essentially snobs, with, in addition, a considerable infusion of flunkyism in their constitutions. They gauge humanity with the eye of a tailor, and settle the location of each in the house of God by the character of his get-up and the state and condition of his shirt collar.

An Albany physician rises to remark that he has never known a case of cancer among the Hebrews, and thinks their exemption from the disease is due to their abstinence from pork.

Many people have wondered what is the significance of the long pennant carried at the main truck of all vessels-of-war in commission. When the Dutch Admiral, Van Tromp, hoisted a broom at the top of the mast of his vessel to indicate his intention to sweep the English from sea, the English admiral hoisted a horse-whip, indicating his intention to chastise the Dutchman. Hence the coach-whip pennant was adopted as a distinctive insignia of a war-vessel in commission for service.

A Bright Reply.

A reporter asked one of the literary people who recently visited the city if he saw anything funny on the Canadian Pacific.

"Yes," said he, "a bright little thing happened at the hotel in Winnipeg. There were a dozen witty commercial men at dinner and a very pretty waiter girl was waiting on them. She had sweet, rosy cheeks, ivory teeth and a smile that bewitched the traveling men. After chaffing the pretty waitress a while, one commercial man looked up and asked:

"What is your name, my pretty waitress?"

"My name," said the young lady, blushing, "is Pearl."

"Pearl!" repeated the commercial man. "That is a very pretty name—a v e r y pretty name." Then thinking a moment he asked:

"Are you the pearl of great price?"

"No," modestly replied the pretty girl, "I am the pearl before swine."

CHAPTER XVII.

DEVOTED TO BROWNIE'S FORTUNE.

Two days afterward, Rip came once more in search of Shirley. He wore a very long face.

"Missis," said he, "she's went and done it."

"What do you mean?"

"Brownie's run away with Wabbnobbs."

"Oh, no, Rip, she only went down to Linwood an hour ago."

"She took the train into Chesterton. He'll meet her there, and they're going to be married this day. I heard 'em planning it yesterday."

Shirley turned pale at that.

"Is this true?" she asked.

"It's the God's truth I tell you. I'd have come to you last night, but I didn't think she'd have the sand to do it. I thought she'd weaken at the last minute."

Shirley was stunned. For once in her life she was at a loss.

"Oh, what shall I do?" she exclaimed.

"Take the next train and go after her. Here's where you'll find her,"—holding a card. "I know my gentleman's places. Catch her before they are married. Show him this letter from his wife. I stole it from him. Come, shin out lively, now!"

There was no time to lose. Rip's advice was plainly sound. She was off like the wind.

"Say, missis, you won't give me away?"

"Surely not; I'll do anything for you. If I can only save Brownie!"

"Because," said Rip, "a feller don't jist like to have a gal down on him."

But Shirley was away already.

"Game!" said Rip to himself. "Them Carstones is game to the backbone. But I didn't think t'other one would do it. The little devil! If it hadn't been for his money she wouldn't have wiped her feet on him. No, by goll! She wouldn't have married him no more than she would marry me! S'pose she had gone off with me! She'd have 'loped with a handsome man."

Rip gave a jaunty twist to his old slouch hat, and straightened himself up.

"There aint many worse men than me, I reckon, but I flatter myself there's worse lookin' ones. Now he's t'other way. There may be worse men in the world than him, but I'm goll dinged if I believe there's many worse lookin' ones."

"Goll dinged" was the favorite Linwood swear word.

Rip's bad news was all too true. Brownie had gone. Shirley followed by the next train, her heart in her mouth lest she should be too late.

She went to the place to which Rip had directed her.

Brownie was there alone. She started when she saw Shirley, and made as if to run away. Then she sat still and put on a defiant pout.

"Are you married?" asked Shirley.

"No."

"Thank heaven!" exclaimed Shirley.

"But I'm going to be in half an hour. Don't say a word; it won't do any good."

"You goose, you! The man's got a wife already."

"I don't believe it."

"Here's a letter from her. She tells him the children have the whooping cough. She want's some money. It's regular matrimonial affection, you see; no doubt about it. Or, if you doubt it further, I have seen a man who knows the whole family."

Brownie snatched the letter.

"Let me see!" she exclaimed.

She looked at it and groaned aloud.

"She begins it 'My dear Bill,' and she spells 'dear' d-e-e-r, and she writes 'Bill' with a little 'b'—'My deer bill!'"

"My deer bill" came in at that moment. Brownie glared at him.

"You've got a wife already."

"It's no such thing!"

"But it is. Look here at this letter from her. You really must excuse me, Mr. Wabbnobbs, but I couldn't think of marrying a man whose wife has no more respect for him than to call him B— with a little b."

Then Shirley spoke. She said only a few words, but they were her kind of words. He wilted under them as if he had been scorched. He even sought to excuse himself.

"She was very willing to go with me," he muttered sulkily. "It was her fault as much as mine. Your sister"——

Brownie whirled on him in a fury.

"Oh, the shame of him!" she exclaimed. "Hear the man! To blame it on a woman! You're mean all through."

And again she exclaimed, rather unreasonably, it must be confessed:

"To blame it on a woman!"

Then under the double fire, like Satan in the old story, "he went his way and was seen no more."

Brownie kept a brave enough front till "deer bill" was out of sight and hearing. Then she gave way to a wild storm of tears, rage and wounded vanity. For an hour she was a very desperately angry and humiliated young lady, till at last Shirley said:

"There now, I'm disgusted with you!"

"It'll be all over town. Oh, Lord!" groaned Brownie. "What will the Frobisher girls say?"

"I've a plan," said her sister. "Only hold your tongue and they'll never know it. Nobody will know it."

"But how?"

"You wanted to go to New Orleans. I'll take you there. It is not convenient, and it's expensive, but we'll go. We will start at once, to-night. Nobody will know then but that was what we came down here for, unless, indeed, you tell it."

"I tell it!"

Thus Brownie was saved from her own folly, saved from a fate which would have been to her, when she came to realize it, worse than death. If she thought of her escape once in the happy after years, she thought of it a thousand times, and shuddered every time, as she remembered how nearly she came to throwing away her life.

"But how did you find out about it?" she asked Shirley once.

"That," replied Shirley, gravely, "is something I will never tell you."

So ended one more of Brownie's exploitations "for the fun of it." After that they said no more about it either way.

Patience, reader! Each trivial episode is a link in the chain of the Carstone history.

The sisters went to the fair south, to a land of magnolias and mocking birds, of roses and oleanders, "a land where it is always afternoon."

They made some pleasant acquaintances. One was an elderly English gentleman who was making a tour of America. He had a fine high bred manner, and at the same time frank and simple ways that reminded Shirley of her father. The sisters were drawn to him at once, and he to them.

Mr. Edgerly had heard of Shirley's silk colony. He was no less surprised than delighted to find the founder of it in this young and beautiful woman.

On a journey a week counts for six months in making acquaintances. Mr. Edgerly and the sisters felt like friends of a lifetime when the parting came. Between Shirley and Mr. Edgerly there passed at sight that mystic freemasonry of genuine high minded souls which needs no credentials of introduction. The sisters invited the English gentleman to visit Linwood and the silk colony.

He accepted the invitation as frankly and as kindly as it had been given, and spent a week with them. He was charming company. He had traveled up and down the earth, and had a world of novel and thrilling experiences to tell. To Shirley, lonely soul, shut up there apart in Linwood, communing only with her own thoughts, he seemed like a visitant from another world.

Even Mrs. Carstone was roused from her wonted ladylike invalidism by the presence of Mr. Edgerly. At the end of a week he left them. He, on his part, was as pleased with mustache, fine, frank face and sunny brown hair. There was an air of pride and haughtiness about his mouth and square chin, somewhat belied by the look in his merry blue eye. His manner proclaimed to all the world, "I am an Englishman."

"But his clothes are lovely," whispered Brownie, further.

The lady beside him had also a conscious air of being a superior being. She was middle aged and quick and jerky in her movements. She glanced restlessly about her, talked in a rapid, much accenting way, and in a shrill, high keyed voice. She talked much and rather loudly, and used numberless ohs, ahs and indeeds.

The lady gave a sudden displeased sniff. She beckoned to a waiter and pointed to a window in a far corner. A man was smoking a cigar in blissful peace there.

"Is smoking allowed in this room?" asked she, in her shrill, rapid, tones. She paralyzed the unhappy attendant with the glance of her eye.

He was obliged to admit that smoking was not wholly forbidden.

"I can not have it," said the much accenting lady. "Will you go to that gentleman and tell him I can not have him smoking in here."

Involuntarily the merry British blue eyes at the one table and the merry American brown eyes at the other table met in a half smile.

Shirley and Brownie came home. Shirley found there a letter from their friend, the English gentleman of three years before. It read:

"MY DEAR MISS CARSTONE—May I commend to the tender mercies of yourself and your sister my son, Robert Edgerly? He is now in the United States and wishes, of course, to see Linwood and certain ladies whom his old father remembers more vividly and esteems more highly than anybody else he met in America.

"You will find Robert not a bad sort of young man, except that he fancies he is very wise. I trust to the Linwood ladies to cure him of that. He will probably present himself in person soon.

"Yours, very sincerely,
"JOHN EDGERLY."

Which he did.

The reader has already perceived that he was the young man with the merry blue eyes, whom the sisters had seen at Chesterton. He was a youth of sincere, strong nature, with the most graceful, winning ways, when he chose, also when he chose, the reverse of agreeable.

He had an intense pride of family, of race and nation. In this respect indeed he out Englished even his countrymen.

Like his father, Robert Edgerly was interested in what he saw at Linwood, though not perhaps in precisely the same matters. Unlike his father, however, he lingered on in Linwood for weeks. Then he went away and came back. In truth Brownie fascinated him more than he was willing to admit to himself.

He was not popular in Linwood, however, as Mr. Wabbnobbs had been before him.

The villagers resented his haughty, reserved ways. He made it so extremely plain to them that in his opinion the "laboring classes" could not by any possibility be gentle folk. He did not take any pains to make a show of this opinion. It just bubbled out of itself. Shirley did not like it.

"These young working people used to be pupils of mine at school," she told him. "I taught them that if a man is really a gentleman he will be a gentleman whether his hands are white or brown. Look at the girls in Linwood church on a Sunday. See if, from their dress, their speech or their manner, you can tell which young woman works for a living and which does not."

"Ah, I dare say," replied young Edgerly, languidly, "I suppose you'll be telling me next that American gentlemen black their own boots. I've heard that said since I've been in this country," continued the youth.

"Well, they do—when they can't help it," answered Brownie. "My brothers black their shoes; so do I mine, if I can't get out of it. But I'm free to say I don't like it."

"Well, I am free to say that I wouldn't live in a country where I had to black my own shoes."

"You might do worse," said Brownie.

He looked into her eyes.

"Do you think so?" he said, in a low voice. Brownie flushed faintly, but did not answer.

He kept on teasing.

"You mayn't believe it," he went on, "but American ladies impress an Englishman very oddly. I've heard young ladies in this country take part in an argument, and express their opinions as freely as if they could possibly know anything about it. Now, in England a properly brought up girl listens but does not talk in general society. Women there defer to the opinions of men, and yield, as a matter of course, to their superior judgment."

"I know one woman like that—just one," answered Brownie in a very solemn tone. "She deferred always to men's opinions and yielded to their superior judgment."

"And where is she now?"

"She's dead."

* * * * * * *

We will peep over Robert Edgerly's shoulder, and read part of a letter he wrote to his father that night. There was such fullness of confidence between them, that they were together more like brothers than like father and son. Indeed, in some ways the father was the more boyish of the two. Robert Edgerly wrote:

"MY DEAR PATER—I'm at Linwood, the home of the adorable sisters. They're all you painted them, and more. I don't wonder you bow down and worship the elder one. All the world must, I think. The younger one is a little witch. She is the only American girl I ever saw who doesn't bite her lips. They are very pretty, these women in the states, but they have a habit of biting their lips and stretching their mouths incessantly which is not pleasant. Eight women out of every ten whom you meet in the streets of an American city will be biting their lips. It is singular. I have a memorandum of it in my book. The adorable sisters, however, are very good form. I quite approve of your taste.

"No more does the little one say 'real nice time,' thanks to the influence and example of her incomparable elder sister. I wrote you that if I could find an American girl who didn't say 'real nice time,' I would marry her. What do you say?"

To which the pater wrote in answer:

"MY DEAR SON—I don't believe she would have you. If it was only your father, now!"

But long before that, Brownie, with her merry spirits and pretty, dainty, birdlike ways, had the English youth completely entangled in her silken net. In short, he was as blindly and as hopelessly gone as ever a tall, honest, soft hearted young fellow was in a first love, since the world began.

...his stay as they were. The pretty village, the women at work with the cobwebby silk fibre, and above all Shirley herself, so strangely beautiful—Shirley, with the brain of a sage, the heart of a child—all this interested him keenly. He had seen all the world, he thought, but here was something new even for him. He declared that here was the best part of his visit to the United States.

With assurances on both sides of friendly remembrances, he went away. Mrs. Carstone spoke of him ever after as "that delightful English gentleman." Brownie called him "that darling old Britisher," and wished the young men were as lovely as the old ones!

Life settled down to its same old jog after his departure. Time wore on without a break, for good or bad, in Shirley's existence.

Three years after Mr. Edgerly's visit she and Brownie waited for the Linwood train one day at Chesterton. While they waited they lunched. At a table near by were a lady and gentleman, also having luncheon.

"What a stuck-up looking young man that is," whispered Brownie.

He was a good looking youth, with a light

An Explanation.

What is this "nervous trouble" with which so many seem now to be afflicted? If you will remember a few years ago the word Malaria was comparatively unknown—to-day it is as common as any word in the English language, yet this word covers only the meaning of another word used by our forefathers in times past. So it is with nervous diseases, as they and Malaria are intended to cover what our grandfathers called Biliousness, and all are caused by troubles that arise from a diseased condition of the Liver which in performing its functions finding it cannot dispose of the bile through the ordinary channel is compelled to pass it off through the system, causing nervous troubles, Malaria, Bilious Fever, etc. You who are suffering can well appreciate a cure. We recommend Green's August Flower. Its' cures are marvelous. *

A Success.

The French Hotel, under the management of the well known epicure, Mr. Escalet, is meeting with excellent success. All speak in glowing terms of the cuisine. The place to get the best dinner in town. Meals at all hours during the day. *

PERSONAL.

Items Telling of the Movements of Well Known Persons.

Rev Mr Gamble left this morning for Goldendale, Oregon.

Mrs Wilson, of Nanaimo, was a passenger by this afternoon's train.

Rev H F Wise, of Kamloops, is in the city and stopping at the Clarence.

Asher Pearce and wife, of Williamsburg, Indiana, are at the Clarence.

W H Perry and wife arrived from Chicago last evening to make their home in Victoria. They are at the Oriental.

Jos Wiggins, of New Westminster, is at the Oriental.

T D Lindsay of Lulu Island, is at the Oriental.

G W Aikman, son of H B W Aikman, New Westminster, came down last evening.

J C Henderson, merchant of Chilliwhack, and wife, who have been in town since the opening of the fair, leave for home to-night.

John Charles Dent, the Canadian author whose death was reported a few days ago, was the only Canadian author who made money out of his profession. His "Canadian Portrait Gallery" netted him $7,000, and he made other money in proportion. He devoted himself to Canadian history, and he did grand service to Canada. His best known work is "The Last Forty Years in Canada."

E Bodwell, barrister, expects to leave for Ottawa to-night or to-morrow, to attend the Supreme Court. The libel case of Walkem vs. Higgins, was appealed to Ottawa by the defendant, where argument will be heard about the 22nd inst., for and against a new trial. Mr. Bodwell will appear as junior counsel for Mr. Higgins, and there will likely be retained on the case several of the leading barristers of the Ontario bar.

POLICE COURT.

(Before City Police Magistrate Richards, Q. C)

Geo. Filforce, on remand for disturbing the peace. Fined $5.

A young man was charged with riding a bycicle on the public sidewalk. The charge was withdrawn on payment of $2 costs.

Squatters' Lands.

Mr. Geo. Turner, C. E., of this city, and Mr. Geo. Byrnes, of Victoria, who were appointed valuators for the purpose of assessing the value of improvements made by squatters on lands to be sold by auction at Vancouver on October 23rd, have finished their duties. The lands in question will be sold subject to the respective valuations, which means that the purchaser will pay for improvements over and above the price of the land. The valuations have given satisfaction to the squatters as far as the valuation goes, but many of them feel that they are not being fairly treated by the government in having their lands taken away. In some cases where there was no intention of land grabbing, but an honest endeavor to make a home, it is an extreme hardship to take the land from the squatters, but, of course, the government is obliged to treat all persons alike.—Columbian.

New Autumn Dress Fabrics.

A complete line in single and double width goods just received at the City House.

The Cariboo Election.

The Columbian says of the vacancy in the Cariboo district that while Mr. Barnard has many friends old Cariboo men at present residing in Westminster favor the return of Mr. McLeese, and they think his return at the head of the poll is certain.

Juvenile Opera.

The Juvenile Opera Company will play in New Westminster to-night and will arrive in this city to-morrow afternoon on the steamer Rithet. They played to crowded houses in Vancouver and received much favorable comment from the press of that city.

Not a Single Settler.

A resident of Comox informs THE TIMES that not a settler has gone in there since December last and accounts for this by the fact that the railway company will not sell an inch of land for less than $3 an acre, cash. Considering that Comox has probably the best agricultural land on Vancouver Island this is rather a sorrowful record.

Seizures of Immoral Literature.

The Collector of Customs at Vancouver has seized a consignment of Zola's works under the clause of the Customs Act dealing with immoral literature. The collector at Windsor has made twenty or thirty different seizures at that port of small parcels brought across the river from Detroit and taken to the express office for shipment to different parts of the Dominion.

Northwest Cattle.

Another cargo of 314 Canadian store cattle sold at Aberdeen realized an average of £15, 6s., 6d., per head. This is the first cargo of Alberta cattle from the Cochrane ranche and they are commended as a remarkably well-bred lot of steers, showing the Hereford cross in a marked degree. The wildness of the cattle made slaughter necessary at Deptford which rather prejudiced the sale.

The Right Time.

Probably there is no period in life more important for the mental and moral training of youths than that between eight and seventeen years of age. If the spring-time of life is well employed, good results may be expected in after years. No better preparation can be afforded boys in this province than that which may be obtained at Corrig School, which is already largely patronized, and which is weekly increasing in number.

Who's Your Tailor?

Quite a number would answer Russell, McDonald & Co., if they felt inclined to speak on the subject at all. This firm has recently enlarged its capacity and the number of hands employed are triple what they were a few months ago. The tailoring department is under Mr. Matthews, an artist tailor from New York, who is giving highest satisfaction to the patrons of the establishment. There are now orders ahead for several weeks work.

Strike Imminent.

We hear from the coal miners that there is great unanimity among the miners on the question of wages or prices. The miners are of opinion that now that coal is high in price their renumeration should be increased, according to a promise made them. A strike is said to be imminent. We sincerely hope the miners will consider the question well before trying the last resort. Strikes generally result in loss to all parties. A conference with the managements ought first to fail.

Charged with Assault.

Charles Zoelle, proprietor of the Bavaria Brewery, Fort street, was arrested to-day by Deputy Sheriff Langley on a charge of assaulting a bailiff whilst the latter was in the execution of his duty. During Zoelle's absense the bailiff, W. Henry, was placed in possession of the premises under a distress warrant. When Zoelle returned he assaulted Henry and forcibly ejected him from the building. The case will be heard in the police court to-morrow morning.

D. L. Moody.

Arrangements are being made for the holding of services by this distinguished Evangelist in the Roller Rink, Yates street. Mr. Moody is expected to arrive on Thursday evening and remain over Sabbath. Instead of the regular Thursday evening prayer meeting of the churches there will be a union service held in the Rink, commencing at 8 o'clock. Moody and Sankey's Gospel Hyms will be used and all who have copies are requested to bring them. The singers of the various churches will help in the singing and are requested to meet for practice at the Rink on Thursday evening at 7 o'clock.

The Doors Closed.

A San Francisco dispatch says: Collector Hager refused to allow to land the Chinese steward and cook of the American ship C. F. Sargent, which arrived from Nanaimo last night. The Collector informed the Captain that all Chinese were barred out, and that he would be arrested if his two Chinese got away.

The Pacific Mail, Occidental and Oriental, and the Oceanic Steamship Companies employ about 1289 Chinese on their vessels, and to these the Collector refuses to issue return certificates, as the Scott Act prevents him. These Chinese will not be permitted to come ashore on the arrival of the steamers.

Choral Society.

The Victoria Choral Society held their first meeting last evening in the music room over M. W. Waitt & Co.'s store. The attendance was very large. After adopting the constitution and by-laws the election of officers for the ensuing year took place. Ex-Mayor Redfern was elected President; P. T. Johnston, Vice-President; D. W. Morrow, Secretary; George Jay, Treasurer; H. S. Sharpe, Musical Director; J. G. Brown, Librarian. The first rehersal will be held on Wednesday evening, Oct. 17th. The Secretary, Mr. Morrow, will receive the names of ladies and gentlemen willing to become members of the society.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

OUR TOWN MAJOR.

"Ex-Councillor" alias "Town Crier" —The Green-Eyed Monster.

Now, "Ex-Councillor," don't you get mad. Your good-natured enough to look at. If when you saw the "green" on the Major's old coat (it was cloth once, not tweed) you had just thought for a moment and recollected that it was not the stain of rotten eggs, nor yet the fire applied by the hands of an outraged community, as your's were a few years ago. The Major fancies you'd have thought twice before you treated your readers to an inanity. As Burns says in the "Holy Fair.

* * * With your twaddle and wit,
O'er Pegasus side you ne'er laid a stride,
You but smelt man, &c.

The Major has a shillalah that never misses its mark. It is never hid like the name of our ex-Councillor; it is in his hand now. He's proud it has drawn blood. But the effigy, it may be burned again. The Major is proud of his "green." Can "Ex-Councillor" say as much?

The baby dodge and your agricultural dodge failed, so will the moral dodge come to a like fate, and Jumbo, thanks to the Major and THE TIMES—no thanks to the Senator — will be at work to-day on the Esquimalt road. This latter comes too late to have effect with the neglected constituency. Try some other dodge, dear "ex-Councillor." Join Moody when he arrives. You've taken a good many hints from the Major; this last will work like a charm.

"Ex-Councillor" will be something like "King Coal" according to his far seeing calculations. After the civic elections, he'll be—in his mind—monopolist the second. He'll have his cousins and his aunts all round him. He may say "what never?" "No, never!" will be the response of the people. Do you see any "green" about them?

Don't make a pun on the Major's old coat, "ex-Councillor." You were once poor yourself and now you live on the hill and look down with complacency on the people you have deluded. "The humble will be exalted" and "the first shall be last." When the Major gets rich and you are poor, if you're in want of a coat he'll give you one. Recollect generosity is forever "green" in his heart. You may require some of it yet, and you'll have it without the asking.

The Major thinks he is good-natured. That's one of his good qualities, and another he never twits a poor man with his poverty. When he wants a drink of whisky he pays for it if he has the money. "Ex-Councillor" has his whisky at other people's expense. "Ex-Councillor" and his outfit on Government street require not only "benzine," but also a little chloride of lime would not be out of place to cleanse them from their impurities. If they could include the big mortgage in the general wiping out around the establishment it would be a great improvement. The Major knows that "Ex-Councillor" is the "green-eyed monster" of Victoria. You're jealous, old boy. To look at your face no one would think you ill natured. Don't show it, it's bad policy. By the way, when will the professor be out?

At the banquet the "shoot" had a good sound lesson administered if it only takes it to heart. The voice of the people placed THE TIMES before the Colonist, notwithstanding the blandishments of the Chesterfield—"Ex-Councillor."

Hops are an essential ingredient in beer—they also form a very pretty decoration. A temperance hall decorated with hops ought to have some sheaves of barley and a few grapes. Then the similitude would be complete.

The "Ex-Councillor," alias "Town Crier" might well hide his ire and save himself from the fire of

THE TOWN MAJOR.

PRIZE FIGHT.

Two Men Engage in a Fistic Encounter—Drawn Battle.

A fight took place this morning between two men named Sturrock and Lowe. The men had a quarrel on Tuesday night and were parted before any damage was done. They did not appear satisfied and decided to fight this morning for $10 a side. The mill took place in a brickyard near the city, and seven rounds were fought. After the fourth round the pugilists were badly cut up and each carried black eyes. At the conclusion of the seventh round the men rolled in the mud and were separated by the referee, a man named Skeeland. The men arrived recently from San Francisco.

Where Has the Money Gone?

It was announced on Saturday last that Rev. Mr. Starr would preach on Sunday evening on the subject "Where has the Money Gone?" The question being one of importance to the ratepayers, a large congregation assembled to hear the missing funds accounted for. While very pointed reference was made to the recent developments in the City Hall, and the occasion was chosen for a strong temperance sermon, the defalcations being only incidentally, yet appropriately referred to, regret was expressed that a gentleman who had always borne an honest name and who was loved and trusted implicitely by everyone should have made himself an embezzler and led his friends, through their confidence in him, into anomalous positions. Mr. Starr estimated that $500,000 was annually paid over the counters of the saloons in Victoria, and that they made 700 drunkards during the same time. If the money spent in Victoria for drinks was expended on improvements we should soon have the most beautiful city in the world.

A Strange Fatality.

The statement in yesterday's paper to the effect that one of the original owners of the Cariboo Fly was killed by the blowing up the boiler on one of her first trips, was only partly correct. Her both owners, the Jamieson Bros., were killed by that accident. The body of one was found but the other never was seen. The accident occurred just at the entrance to this harbor. A strange fatality seems to have followed the family to which the two men referred to belonged. There are said to have been five brothers in the family, all engineers, and all five came to their end in much the same way. Two, as stated, met their death in Victoria harbor, one was killed by the explosion of a boiler at Yale, and the others were killed on the Columbia river.

An Engineer's Story.

A very good illustration of engineering skill and exactness is told by Mr. McConnell, of the Dominion Geological survey who arrived from the north a few days ago. Mr. McConnell, it will be remembered, surveyed the northern country starting from Winnipeg and working to the coast. Mr. Ogilvie, another surveyor, started from the coast and should arrive in Winnipeg at any day. Before starting out they agreed to meet at a certain time, in a certain degree of latitude and longitude. Both endeavored to keep their engagement and when the date came they were, after travelling two or three thousand miles, within 15 miles of each other.

THE ALDERMANIC BOARD.

Special Meeting Held Last Evening —Public Morals—Sewerage.

A special meeting of the City Council was held in the City Hall at 8 o'clock last evening.

Present: Aldermen Coughlan, Wilson, Styles, Penwill, Braden, Harris, Vigelius, Powell and Kelly.

The acting Clerk said the only matter before the meeting was a letter from Mr. Theodore Davie on behalf of the City Barristers regarding the action taken in the case of Mr. J. D. Robinson. The communication was laid on the table.

PUBLIC MORALS BY-LAW.

Ald. Wilson moved the second reading of the Public Morals By-law. Seconded by Ald. Kelly and carried.

A motion to go into committee of the whole on the by-law was carried.

Clause 1, regarding the use of profane language, exhibiting and selling indecent photographs was passed.

Clause 2, dealt with persons being drunk and disorderly in public places.

Clause 3, fixes the penalty for infringing the by-law.

Ald. Wilson asked leave to insert a clause which would close all places of amusement at 12 o'clock on Saturday night and keep the same closed until Monday morning.

Ald. Braden said the reason why this clause was inserted is to close the Chinese theatre which is running on Sundays.

Ald. Braden said he would like to see all barber shops closed on Sunday.

Ald. Vigelius—It would be well to close some saloons, people would not break their backs then.

Ald. Styles asked what was meant by places of amusement.

Ald. Wilson—I passed a place on Sunday morning and saw dancing going on.

Ald. Braden—Supposing Rev. Mr. Starr should give a lecture on Sunday would he not be liable to prosecution?

Ald. Powell moved that any person supplying liquor to an intoxicated man shall be subject to the provisions of the by-law.

His Worship—There is a law at present on the statute books which makes it a penalty to supply liquor to a drunken man. It is no doubt hard to draw the line.

Ald. Powell—The police committee should see that the law is carried out. From my place of business I can see drunken men going and coming from saloons for weeks. These men are a nuisance to the public and should receive the protection of the police.

His Worship—Any person with a liquor license is liable to lose the same if he supplies liquor to a drunken man.

The by law as amended passed and the committee reported the by-law complete as amended. The by-law was then passed.

Ald. Harris said the plans for Johnson street sewer were ready. He was in favor of putting off the construction of Johnson street sewer until next summer. No harm would be done by allowing sewerage to run down the Johnson street ravine during the winter.

His Worship agreed with Ald. Harris that it would be in the interest of the city that to defer the construction of the Johnson street sewer. An injunction was issued from the Supreme Court but the gentlemen at whose instance the injunction was granted might be induced to allow the matter to lay over until next spring.

The Council then adjourned.

City Treasurer.

Mr. S. Duck entered upon the duties of his new office of city treasurer to-day. It is reported that he does not intend to resign his seat in the legislature. He will pardon us for saying that he is better able to keep the books of the city than he is to serve two masters. The interests of the corporation and the government may not always be identical, as for instance in the obnoxious school tax, which the treasurer has been forbidden to pay to the government.

Marine Notes.

Steamer Maude will leave this evening for Skidegate.

The British ship Mannock sailed from London, Oct., 1st, for this port.

A vessel has been chartered to bring coal round from New York to San Francisco. The freight will be $12 a ton.

The Lottery.

New Orleans, Oct. 9—The following are the large prizes in to-day's drawing of the Louisiana lottery: First, 46,759; second, 73,946; third, 82,453; fourth, 43,942; fifth, 27,307; sixth, 23,533; seventh, 32,889; eighth, 73,281; ninth, 26,439; tenth, 94,327, eleventh, 37,077.

Barber Gone.

It is reported around town that a barber who was running a shop on the west side of Government street, near the corner of Yates street, has been missing since Saturday night. He left a wife and family and a number of creditors.
